"WHY I AM CALLED FIRST LADY OF JAMB" - IBANA

- Says Oloyede Is On Course With JAMB Mandate And Vision

■ Mrs. Anthonia Eno Ibana

Mrs. Anthonia Eno Ibana, popularly known and addressed as 'First Lady' within the Board, was a public servant par excellence. Mrs. Ibana, who had a blissful public service career in the Board, was the first staff member of the Board and a female one for that matter.

The 'First Lady' had spent her youthful age in the service of the Board. She had also served in different capacities before retiring as a Director in one of the Departments.

In a telephone interview with JAMB Bulletin in Abuja, the Akwa Ibom State-born administrator, who served under four substantive and two acting Registrars, shared her experiences on the conception and evolution of JAMB, why she is addressed as the 'First Lady' as well as the efforts of the Oloyede-led administration to realise the dreams, hopes and aspirations of the founding fathers of JAMB and other sundry issues.

Mrs. Ibana told our reporter that she joined the Board at inception. Her words: "I joined the Board at its inception. The then Federal Commissioner of Education, Col. Ahmadu Ali, drafted me to set up JAMB. We started the journey from Ikoyi, Lagos State, before moving to Abuja."

Continuing, she said, "I remain a lucky woman because it is a privilege to serve and be part of the success story of such a successful agency like JAMB."

Still going down memory lane, the test expert said, "My youthful years in JAMB were very interesting as we did everything humanly possible to ensure that the

INAUGURATION OF MULTIPLE CBT CENTRES: NASARAWA STATE GOVERNOR COMENDS JAMB

His Excellency, Engineer Abdullahi Sule, the Executive Governor, Nasarawa State, has commended the Joint Admissions and Matriculation Board (JAMB) for the successful partnership with the State Government leading to the completion of the three CBT centres in Lafia, Nasarawa State.

The Governor expressed his appreciation to the Management of JAMB for collaborating with the State Government to make the three Mega CBT Centres a reality.

This commendation was given on Wednesday, 27 May, 2020, at the inauguration ceremony held in Lafia, the state capital, as part of the activities lined up for the celebration of his one-year in office.

The Governor explained that he decided to complete the project initiated by the immediate past Governor, Umaru Tanko Almakura, because of his belief in the primacy of education and the need for the teeming youth population of the State to acquire formal education.

The Governor disclosed that the Memorandum of Understanding signed with the Board has stipulated the roles of the Nasarawa State Government regarding constructing the three CBT centres while the Board would furnish the centres with the necessary equipment. The sharing ratio would see the State Government owning and managing one of the centres directly while the Board would take over the management of the other two, one on behalf of the State Government while it owns the other one.

According to the Governor, his decision to name the CBT centre to be run by the State Government after his predecessor, Umaru Tanko Almakura, was because the immediate past governor started the project.

“Today we are seeing continuity in governance at its peak. This is an initiative of the former Governor which was started with JAMB, that is the reason why we decided to name the centre Umaru Tanko Almakura CBT Centre”.

He said the Centre would not only be for the benefit of Nasarawa State, but also Nigeria as a whole.

In her remarks, the State Commissioner for Education, Science and Technology, Mrs. Fati Sabo, said, “The State Government considered it necessary to partner with JAMB in order to facilitate the operations of the Board in the State.”

Mrs. Sabo disclosed that the construction of the test centres would go a long way in catering for the yearnings of the teeming population of candidates that yearly seeks admission into tertiary institutions.

admission process was seamless more so that the pioneer Registrar, Uncle Michael Angulu, had laid a foundation for a solid institution."

She noted that JAMB was a child of necessity as it was created to address the various challenges confronting the nation as well as access to tertiary education in the country. It was a product of foresight as the founding fathers were propelled to avoid a repeat of the divisions that led to the Civil War, hence their determination to create institutions that would foster unity and eliminate divisive tendencies. She added that issues like centrality of admissions, elimination of multiple admissions, as were then the case, were secondary.

According to Ibana, the creation of JAMB was greeted with jubilation adding that she was elated that the fortunes of the 41-year old body have continued to soar despite some seeming challenges.

She said, "Today, there is no case of multiple admissions as many of the innovations wrought by the Board like the Central Admissions Processing System (CAPS), among others, have holistically addressed this challenge which was rampant before the Board was set up. I must credit the strict adherence to admissions criteria and other rules as being responsible for the successes recorded by the Board. It's also important to point out that certain retrogressive practices in the tertiary education system are eroding these gains that would have gone a long way in solidifying the ship of nationhood. For instance, a situation whereby we have come to accept the localization of appointments to the position of heads of tertiary institutions is very unfortunate. Today, a Sokoto man cannot aspire to be Vice Chancellor of the University of Nigeria, Nsukka, no matter how competent he is. This tendency should be discouraged if the gains of JAMB in the management of admissions, national cohesion and the promotion of quality control are to be felt in the nation."

Mrs. Ibana similarly stated, "I look back and I see much transformation, the Board has transited from a regime of printing its question papers abroad, flying these papers to Nigeria and the adoption of OMR sheets for answers during the paper-pencil test days. From marking our scripts abroad to scanning these OMR sheets locally and now conducting the entire examination using the Computer-Based Test mode. When we started, we were examining less than 100,000 candidates but today, the Board is examining close to two million candidates, and the whole system is being managed well. No nation has such a success story of testing such a large number on CBT mode, and as such, JAMB has become a role model to other examining bodies globally."

Mrs. Ibana worked closely with Late Pa Michael Saidu Angulu, the pioneer Registrar between 1977 to 1986; Dr. Mohammed Abdulrahman (1986 to 1996); Prof. Bello Ahmed Salim (1996 to 2006) and the immediate past Registrar, Prof. Dibu Ojerinde, briefly before retiring in 2009. She pointed out that the Board has witnessed tremendous transformations occasioned by the various innovations brought to bear by the various Chief Executives.

She said, "I'm happy that the Board is not only alive but also waxing stronger and stronger under the leadership of Prof. Oloyede. This is because of the unprecedented deployment of technology under the present dispensation which has brought sanity and credibility to the administration of examinations and the processing of the end products. To this end, examination cheats are looking at other fields to ply their trade as the Board continues to send fraudsters to jail. The convictions secured have seriously sent the right signals to others, who may want to indulge in examination misconduct and other unwholesome practices, to have a rethink."

The Awka Ibom-born technocrat also commended Prof. Oloyede for the great strides and uncommon achievements he had recorded so far. She cited physical infrastructure especially the remodeled National Headquarters of the Board to give staff a befitting and dignified work environment, the brand-new General Services Department building, mega CBT centres nationwide and above all, the remittances to the federal coffers.

She said, "Anytime I hear about remittances, I feel like it's a joke. In fact, when I meet Prof. Oloyede, I will ask him how he is doing it as the same charges, same income are obtained but there is much remittance now. I could recall a time when we were borrowing to complete certain operational imperatives and today, without increase in charges, the Board is remitting billions borne out of prudent management, enhanced internal capacity, among others. This is awesome."

Other areas, according to the retired Director, included the surgical operations on the admission process through the introduction of the Central Admission Processing System (CAPS) which has provided a common automated platform for the nation's tertiary institutions.

Mrs. Ibana said these landmark gestures are in conformity with the ideals of integrity and service to the nation which formed the bedrock on which the foundation of the Board was laid.

On why she is addressed as the First lady of JAMB, she said, "I attained the status of a 'First Lady of JAMB' because I was not only the first female pioneer staff but also the first woman to conduct peaceful examination all over the country. In addition, I also recorded many firsts as I came first in the promotion examination for directorship conducted by external consultants. I was similarly the first person to be seventeen and half years on the Deputy Directorship position and lastly, the first Director to be honoured with a grand send-off party by the entire Headquarters staff."

Mrs. Ibana pointed out that the journey was not without hiccups but added that in spite of the trials and tribulations, God saw her through everything and, as such, she would always give God the glory and adoration.

Her words, "I am very proud to have worked with JAMB. It was a beautiful experience. I worked with the former Commissioner of Education, Dr. Ahmadu Ali, at the Federal Ministry of Education where he noticed my talent and nominated me to set up JAMB in 1978."

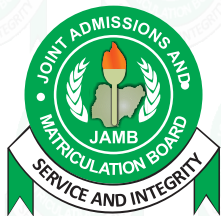

On her life after retirement, she said that had been very wonderful and she was grateful to God for all His blessings, most especially for allowing her to spend her youthful years working for JAMB. She observed that her story would not be complete without mentioning Michael Angulu, the pioneer Registrar of JAMB, who made her truly the 'First Lady' of JAMB.

She said, "Uncle Angulu was a great man and we worked as a family. May his soul rest in peace. Amen. I am also grateful to the immediate past Registrar, Prof. Dibu Ojerinde, for paving the way for me to become a Director."

"My advice to staff is to give their best because to whom much is given much is expected. Although, we are outside the system but we receive with joy the good news of the various welfare packages introduced by the present management."

She admonished staff to adhere to the virtues of humility, loyalty and dedication to the services of the Board. She urged staff to cultivate the culture of doing the right thing at the right time. And, above all to be prayerful and be thankful to Almighty God for His infinite mercies.

EDUCATION IN THE MEDIA

DAILY TRUST, MONDAY, MAY 25, 2020–COVID-19: Reps Seek Review of School Curriculum: The House of Representatives Committee on Basic Education and Services has stressed the need to review the school curriculum in line with current challenges. The new curriculum should be geared towards strengthening the teaching of Sciences, Health Sciences and Social Studies to incorporate good knowledge of infectious diseases.

VANGUARD, WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 2020–Babcock University Begins Research on COVID-19 Remedy-VC: A team of researchers from Babcock University, Ilesan-Remo, are reportedly working on a cure for the coronavirus. The Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Ademola Tayo, stated this during an interview with the JAMBulletin recently. Also in Nation, Monday, May 25, 2020

PUNCH, TUESDAY, MAY 26, 2020–Rector asks Institutions to Tackle COVID-19 Pandemic: The Rector of the Federal Polytechnic, Ado Ekiti, Dr Hephzibah Oladebeye, has urged tertiary institutions in the country to seek new knowledge on how to contain the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic. He made this statement while taking delivery of 30 bottles of one-litre liquid detergent and 200 pieces of 100ml-size hand sanitiser produced by the School of Science and Computer Studies of the institution as part of its contributions to the fight against the spread of COVID-19.

PUNCH, TUESDAY, MAY 26, 2020–Group Sets Agenda for New NECO Registrar: An education group, African Students Education Support Initiative (ASESI), has advised the newly appointed Registrar of the National Examinations Council (NECO), Prof. Godswill Obioma, to prioritise the prompt release of results, the digitalisation of the council, capacity building and other key areas in his administration. ASES I believed that Obioma, a professor of Education Measurement and Evaluation, would bring to bear his experience in the education sector, having served as the Executive Secretary of the Nigeria

Education Research and Development Council.

PUNCH, TUESDAY, MAY 26, 2020–Abdulrazaq Appoints Adewumi as Kwasu Chancellor: Kwara State Governor, Abdulrahman Abdulrazaq, has approved the appointment of a renowned educationist, Dr Johnson Adewumi, as the new Chancellor of the Kwara State University, Malete. The appointment, according to the letter signed by the Commissioner for Tertiary Education, Hajia Sa'adatu Modibbo-Kawu, is with immediate effect.

LEADERSHIP, WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 2020–The Sleaze in NECO This Editorial looks at the suspension and ultimate sacking of the ex-Chief Executive of the National Examination Council (NECO), Prof. Charles Uwakwe by the Federal Government over allegations of financial impropriety. It is said, the revelation leading to the sack of the officials of the examination body is worrisome especially at a time when Chief Executives like the Registrar, JAMB, Prof. Is-haq Oloyede are working tirelessly to ensure that the integrity of the country's examination bodies is restored. The paper poisted that it hope as with other stakeholders in the education sector that the new Chief Executive would take a cue from the Registrar of JAMB to do all he can to revamp the image of NECO.

DAILY TRUST, THURSDAY, MAY 28, 2020–Why Schools Will not Resume on June 8-FG: The Federal Government says it can not open schools until it is sure "our children can go to school and return safely without taking COVID-19 home." The Minister of State for Education, Dr Chukwuemeka Nwajiuba, states that schools will not reopen on the 8th of June 2020 as the government can not afford to take any costly risk, especially as it regards the safety of pupils and students in the country.

DAILY TRUST, THURSDAY, MAY 28, 2020–FG to Roll out Policy on Schools' Reopening, Considers Sectionalising Classes: The Federal Ministry of Education will soon roll out measures to be put in place for the safe re-opening of the nation's schools. Also, the idea of sectionalising classes for primary, secondary and tertiary institutions amid the coronavirus pandemic is being considered in such a way that classes would be held in the morning and in the afternoon so that there would be adequate safety and protection of the students. Also in Daily Independent, Thursday, May 28, 2019, Thisday, Thursday, May 28, 2020

DAILY INDEPENDENT, THURSDAY, MAY 28, 2020–Anambra to Introduce COVID-19 into School Curriculum: In an effort to fight the coronavirus pandemic to a standstill, the Anambra State Government has announced its intention to include COVID-19 education in the school curriculum. This act, according to the State Government, would instil the culture and practice of simple personal hygiene in primary and secondary school as well as educate the pupils on the covid-19 prevention protocols.

DAILY INDEPENDENT, THURSDAY, MAY 28, 2020–Gov. Sule, Inaugurates 2,000-Capacity JAMB Professional Test Centre: As part of his administration's commitment towards uplifting the standard of education in Nasarawa State, Governor Abdullahi Sule has inaugurated three professional test centres established in partnership with JAMB. He stated that the centres would be opened for use by the Board and other examination bodies. The centres would benefit not only Nasarawa State indigenes but the country as a whole.

DAILY INDEPENDENT, THURSDAY, MAY 28, 2020–Federal Lawmaker Advocates Free, Compulsory Education: Bamidele Sallam, a House of Representatives Member representing Ede-North/Ede-South/ Egbedore/Ejigbo Federal Constituency, has advocated free and compulsory education in every part of the federation. He stated that this action would secure the future of the country against poverty and insecurity currently ravaging the nation.

JAMB CONDOLES 'NEW TELEGRAPH' NEWSPAPERS OVER DEATH OF ITS EDITOR

The Joint Admissions and Matriculation Board (JAMB) has commiserated with the management of "New Telegraph" Newspapers over the demise of its Saturday Editor, Alh. Waheed Bakare.

In a letter of condolence signed by the Registrar, Prof. Is-haq Oloyede, the Board described the death of Alh. Bakare as shocking.

The letter reads in part, "For us in JAMB,

Alh. Bakare was a key player in our strategies for mainstreaming the media and other critical stakeholders in the ongoing reforms in the Board."

The letter continues, "With his death, his family would miss a father, a consummate family man, while the journalism profession has lost a giant, a versatile journalist who has carved a niche for himself through his sojourn in the Punch Newspapers, the "New

Telegraph" and his classy contributions in the celebrated TVC classic, "Journalists' Hangout" and above all, the nation would miss the balanced contributions of a patriot."

While commiserating with the Nigerian Union of Journalists (NUJ) and the Guild of Editors for the loss of an icon of the pen profession, the Board prayed for the repose of his soul and for his family, friends and professional colleagues.
