EDUCATION MINISTER LOSES MUM

JAMB, FME And Many Others Commiserate With Adamu Adamu

■ Late Mama Fatima Adamu, mother of the Honourable Minister of Education, Malam Adamu Adamu

The entire members of the Education Ministry family led by the Minister of State for Education, Hon. Chukuemeka Nwajiuba, and the Permanent Secretary, Arc. Sonny Echono, have commiserated with the Education Minister, Mall. Adamu Adamu, over the death of his Mother, Hajiya Fatima Adamu Baaba, who died in the early hours of Friday, 24th April, 2020.

In a statement signed on behalf of the Staff of the Ministry and those of its Agencies, Nwajiuba said, "This is our collective grief, our dear mother has left us. The best we can do now and for the rest of our lives is to continue to work and live together as brothers."

Condolence messages were also received from the 21 Chief Executives of Parastatals under the Ministry of Education including Prof. Ishaq Oloyede, JAMB; Prof. Elias Bagoro, TETFund; Prof. Bappa Aliu, UBEC; Prof. Abubakar Adamu Rasheed, NUC and the Executive Secretary, National Commission for Colleges of Education, among others.

Also offering their condolences were the over 120 Directors in the Ministry which included Principals of the 104 Unity Colleges.

E-LEARNING : CREDIT GOES TO LASU ASUU - VC, LASU ...Says Stable Academic Session A Panacea For Progress And Development

The deadly coronavirus, otherwise called COVID-19, took the world by storm. This is because the virus has caused collateral damage to virtually all the spheres of our lives.

Since then, schools, offices and other public places have closed down in accordance with the various precautionary measures to stem the spread of the virus.

The Lagos State University (LASU), South-West Nigeria, rather than surrendering to the limitations of the pandemic, converted the lockdown into a golden opportunity to explore other academic experiences. Consequently, the stay-at-home order does not affect academic learning rather it has opened new vista of opportunities as the University is leveraging on existing e-learning infrastructure to deliver quality assessment outcomes.

The Vice-Chancellor, LASU, Prof. Olanrewaju Adigun Fagbohun, in a chat with JAMBulletin in Abuja, made this disclosure when he was lending his voice to the call by the Hon. Minister of Education, Malam Adamu Adamu, on the need by institutions to embrace e-platforms for imparting knowledge to their teeming student population as obtained in other climes. This call was coming on the heels of some pundits expressing reservations on the workability of virtual learning and teaching in the Nigerian context citing non-availability of infrastructure among other factors.

However, the LASU experience has changed the narratives and in the words of the multiple Award winner and Professor of Environmental Law, "We cannot continue to give excuses otherwise we would end up as 'excusesiologists'."

Prof. Fagbohun said LASU was poised to achieve two things. First, it aims at engaging students positively and productively as a result of the lockdown while encouraging them to respect all measures put in place to mitigate the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Prof. Fagboun, who is also a National Productivity Merit Award winner said, "For us at LASU, we plan to finish the session as scheduled. So what we did when the lockdown came was to open conversation at all levels of Management in addition to expanding the Management Committee comprising the Provists, Deans and Faculty Officers. Everybody keyed into all measurements we would be putting in place to actualise online lectures."

Continuing, Prof. Fagboun disclosed that it was that momentous decision that culminated in the fine-tuning of the existing Distance Learning Programme originally run by the institution but managed by ENVIVO to become a veritable e-learning platform.

He attributed the success of the programme to the ability of the LASU Management to secure the buy-in of the Governor of Lagos State. He stated that the Governor was very enthusiastic about the e-learning project and gave the institution all the support required without limiting the services of ENVIVO to the Distance Learning Programme of the University but rather gave approval for the extension of the programme to all tertiary institutions in Lagos State. The Vice Chancellor added that the goodwill of the Governor to fund the platform, more than anything, ensured that everybody keyed into it.

The Vice-Chancellor said, "The way we went about the project was for us to have recorded presentations, which included slides featuring the narration and the questions, for onward recording and loading into the ENVIVO platform."

According to the erudite professor, the platform was made so robust that students were able to access these lectures offline. He said it was not only a lot cheaper that way but students could also fall back on the recorded lectures at their own convenient time. They were, however, constrained to maintain constant link with the platform through the quizzes and assignments which lecturers give at the end of every presentation."

Similarly, Prof. Fagboun said, "We equally created a blog where questions are asked and answered. In addition, all questions are monitored by Technical Assistants so that once a question has been asked and answered, no other student could ask such a question again in the course of an interaction. The essence of this is to prevent repetition of questions."

He explained that similar e-lectures were being held for medical students in the College of Medicine with the practical aspects of the course put on hold until normalcy returned. According to him, the implication of doing that would be that all theoretical engagements were completed during the period of the lockdown and no academic exercise suffers as a result of the lockdown.

To begin the e-learning programme, the Vice-Chancellor disclosed that a webinar was held for the institution's Management and the Student Union leaders who, in turn, went back to sensitise their fellow students.

He emphasised that there was no basis for the University to be comatose and then blame such inertia on lack of infrastructure. He added that the University Chapter of ASUU was so understanding that their decision to eschew strikes during this challenging period had positively impacted on the e-learning policy. He urged other institutions which desired to continue with their academic engagements to do so immediately via e-learning as they would not need huge infrastructural facilities before successfully engaging with their students.

Commenting on the process of the 2019 Admissions, the Vice-Chancellor pointed out that the University, along with other tertiary institutions in the country, constantly interfaced with the Board's Central Admissions Processing System (CAPS). He described CAPS as an amazing concept which had succeeded in not only streamlining the admission process but also bringing integrity, transparency and credibility to the process.

He said, "When you have a system like CAPS, abuses are likely to be prevented as the system is structured in such a way that whatever you want to do must be in consonance with acceptable guidelines. Similarly, CAPS also gives opportunity to double check and ensure that every player admits candidates according to their set rules. It is one of the greatest things that has happened to the administration of the admissions process in Nigeria."

On the continued relevance of JAMB, he said, "We have a system that is working for us, why must we change it?" Continuing, he stated that the Board had done very well over the years and had not derailed from the mandate and vision of its founding fathers. He added that the purposeful leadership provided by successive Registrars have greatly positioned the Board to deliver world-class assessment outcomes as well as enhanced the harmonious relationship with tertiary institutions across the country.

Fielding question on the quality of education in Nigeria at present, Prof. Fagboun said the country was not doing badly but urged educational administrators to scale up the curriculum in line with 21st century realities. He said, "At LASU, we are training students not only to be ambassadors of the Nigerian educational system but veritable workforce and global citizens capable of holding their own wherever they might find themselves."

The Vice Chancellor, who is also a Senior Advocate of Nigeria (SAN), expressed his delight with the National Universities Commission (NUC), which, according to him, had made noticeable impact on the Nigerian university system through the assembly of experts such as the former Vice-Chancellor, University of Port Harcourt, Prof. Nimi Briggs, former Executive Secretary, NUC and Chairman Board of National Open University of Nigeria (NOUN), Prof. Peter Okebukola, former Minister of Education, Prof. Ruqayyah Ahmed Rufa'i and many others to drive the process of upscaling of the curriculum of the Nigerian university system.

Prof. Fagboun also declared "Nigerians are very intelligent but they have to be prepared for the workplace of the future. With the intellectual resources available by way of data at NUC and JAMB coupled with the timely and copious interventions by TETFUND in the provision of infrastructural needs of tertiary institutions, it would not be long before the nation got to where it ought to be technologically and economically."

In another development, JAMBULLETIN also interacted with some selected institutions on the impact of the lockdown on their operations, level of compliance with extant guidelines on the 2019 Admission Exercise and the inability of some candidates to accept their admission offers on CAPS.

The Vice Chancellor, Nasarawa State University, Prof. Sulieman Mohammed, in his submission, said the University was on strike declared by the Academic Staff

Union of Universities (ASUU) before the lockdown. He said the 2019 Admission Exercise had been concluded with just few cases outstanding. He said the entire exercise was conducted on the CAPS platform. Prof. Mohammed added that in the course of their operations on CAPS, they had noticed that some of the admitted candidates were yet to accept their offers and disclosed that the University had been using various media outlets to inform these candidates to do so immediately.

In the words of the Vice-Chancellor, University of Port Harcourt, Prof. Ndowa Lale, the University, though on strike, had no issue with the 2019 Admission Exercise because the institution's admissions were conducted through CAPS. He stated that it was the policy of the University that admitted candidates should print their admission letters issued by JAMB before initiating the process of registration.

ATBU, Bauchi, was also on strike before the lockdown and that had made its situation to be similar to those of other institutions. However, the Vice Chancellor, Prof. Mohammed Abdulazeez, told JAMBULLETIN that the institution always insisted that any candidate that was offered admission must have his/her JAMB Admission Letter before registration could be done. When told that a large number of students admitted into his institutions were yet to accept their admissions, he assured JAMBULLETIN that he would call the relevant desk officers to establish contact with such candidates to ensure that their admissions were not forfeited.

Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria, on the other hand, had concluded its admissions before the commencement of the ASUU strike though some few adjustments still needed to be done. The Ag. Vice Chancellor, Prof. Sodiq Abubakar, disclosed that the Board had called the attention of the University to these and the institution was working on getting these resolved speedily. He maintained that all the University's admissions were done only on CAPS and not on any other platform. He also assured JAMBULLETIN that although some students were erroneously admitted without uploading their O'levels, the school was doing the necessary follow up to ensure that the error was rectified.

On the issue of candidates who were yet to accept their admissions on CAPS, the Ag. Vice Chancellor said he had directed that messages should be sent to the candidates concerned to do the needful so as not to forfeit such admissions.

2020 ADMISSIONS EXERCISE: JAMB PUBLISHES 2019 MATRICULATION LIST ...Advises Candidates Yet To Accept Their Admission On CAPS To Do So Immediately

The Joint Admissions and Matriculation Board (JAMB) has published the list of 2019 fully-admitted candidates in all the tertiary institutions in the country. The list is on display on the Board’s website: www.jamb.gov.ng. For ease of checking, candidates can search for their names by providing their JAMB Registration Numbers on the search tool located on the displayed list to ascertain their admission. The displayed list can be accessed by a visit to www.jamb.gov.ng, then proceed to menu, click on 'STUDENTS+', select the submenu 'CHECK MATRICULATION LIST'. Candidates who have been offered

PROVISIONAL ADMISSION BUT ARE YET TO ACCEPT such are to immediately accept these admissions at no cost by using the CAPS Mobile App downloaded from Google Play Store. Candidates do not need to visit any CBT centre or cybercafe, as doing so would be a violation of the presidential directive on work from home/stay-at-home order. Candidates should note that failure to accept such offers of admission on the CAPS platform would result in the forfeiture of such admissions. In the event of any challenge, candidates are to lodge their complaints using the online ticketing platform at support.jamb.gov.ng under “2019

Admission List Issue”. Acceptance of admissions on any website other than CAPS is not valid as any admission not processed and accepted through CAPS is not known to JAMB. Alternatively, candidates who are not sure of their admission status can check for such from their phones by sending "STATUS 2019" to 55019. Only candidates who had accepted their offers of admission on CAPS and whose names appear on the Provisional Matriculation List are recognised as bona fide students of the various institutions in Nigeria.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT COVID-19

WHAT IS COVID-19? COVID-19 is the infectious disease caused by the most recently discovered CORONAVIRUS. This new virus and disease were unknown before the outbreak began in Wuhan, China, in December 2019.

SYMPTOMS: The most common symptoms of COVID-19 are fever, tiredness, and dry cough. Some people may have aches and pains, nasal congestion, runny nose, sore throat or diarrhoea. These symptoms are usually mild and begin gradually. Some people become infected but don't develop any symptoms and don't feel unwell. Most people (about 80%) recover from the disease without needing special treatment. Around 1 out of every 6 people who gets COVID-19 becomes seriously ill and develops difficulty breathing. Older people, and those with underlying medical problems like high blood pressure, heart problems or diabetes, are more likely to develop serious illness. People with fever, cough and difficulty breathing should seek medical attention. Illness due to COVID-19 infection is generally mild, especially for children and young adults.

HOW IS IT SPREAD? The virus that causes COVID-19 is mainly transmitted through droplets generated when an infected person coughs, sneezes, or speaks. These droplets are too heavy to hang in the air. They quickly fall on floors or surfaces.

The disease can spread from person to person through small droplets from the nose or mouth which are spread when a person with COVID-19 coughs or exhales. These droplets land on objects and surfaces around the person. Other people then catch COVID-19 by touching these objects or surfaces, then touching their eyes, nose or mouth. This is why it is important to stay more than 1 meter (3 feet) away from a person who is sick.

You can be infected by breathing in the virus if you are within 1 metre of a person who has COVID-19, or by touching a contaminated surface and then touching your eyes, nose or mouth before washing your hands.

PROTECTION MEASURES FOR EVERYONE

You can reduce your chances of being infected or spreading COVID-19 by taking some simple precautions:

- Regularly and thoroughly clean your hands with an alcohol-based hand rub or wash them with soap and water.
- Maintain at least 1 metre (3 feet) distance between yourself and anyone who is coughing or sneezing. If you are too close, you can breathe in the droplets, including the COVID-19 virus if the person coughing has the disease.
- Avoid touching eyes, nose and mouth. As your hands touch many surfaces and can pick up viruses. Once contaminated, hands can transfer the virus to your eyes, nose or mouth.
- Make sure you, and the people around you, follow good respiratory hygiene. This means covering your mouth and nose with your bent elbow or tissue when you cough or sneeze. Then dispose of the used tissue immediately.

- Stay home if you feel unwell. If you have a fever, cough and difficulty breathing, seek medical attention and call in advance.
- Self-isolate by staying at home if you begin to feel unwell, even with mild symptoms such as headache, low grade fever (37.3 C or above) and slight runny nose, until you recover. Avoiding contact with others and visits to medical facilities will allow these facilities to operate more effectively and help protect you and others from possible COVID-19 and other viruses.
- Only wear a mask if you are ill with COVID-19 symptoms (especially coughing) or looking after someone who may have COVID-19. Disposable face mask can only be used once. If you are not ill or looking after someone who is ill, then you are wasting a mask.

COVID-19 outbreaks can be contained and transmission stopped, as has been shown in China and some other countries. Unfortunately, new outbreaks can emerge rapidly.

If you think a surface may be infected, clean it with simple disinfectant to kill the virus and protect yourself and others. Clean your hands with an alcohol-based hand rub or wash them with soap and water. Avoid touching your eyes, mouth, or nose.

Please stay safe.

...Education Minister Loses Mum...JAMB, FME and Many Others Commiserate with Adamu Adamu

Abdullahi Suleja similarly expressed their grief, praying Allah to grant Mama Adamu eternal rest. and the family the fortitude to bear the loss.

The Hon. Minister, in his reaction expressed appreciation to all and sundry, who in spite of the lockdown and the Ramadan, were prepared to visit to pay their respects to the family of the departed soul.

Also, the Hon. Minister, while appreciating the concerns and sympathy of many stated that, in adherence to the prevailing lockdown directive issued by the President, sympathisers could write to pay their respects or offer prayers for the safe repose of the soul of his mother anywhere they are.

Furthermore, Mall. Adamu pleasantly observed that well-wishers in adhering to his call for written condolences, have inundated his phone with messages, the volume of which could only be assessed by the huge revenue accruing to the Telcos!

Among those who wrote was the the Chairman, JAMB Governing Board, Dr. Emmanuel Ndukwe. In his letter, Dr. Ndukwe prayed for the repose of Madam Adamu.

Mama Fatima Adamu had since been laid to rest according to Islamic injunctions.
